Costs which are not included in the fees

The fees from Bishopstoke Parish Council do not include the funeral director's fees and charges, the stonemason's fees and cost of any headstone, the grave digging fees and the Minister's fee. All charges are subject to annual review.

Fees for interments

The fee for an interment is the fee for the burial, and will be doubled in all cases where the person being interred is from outside of the Parish and does not qualify under the exceptions listed at the bottom of the fees and charges list. If you are unsure whether a particular address is considered to be within the Parish of Bishopstoke please contact us using the contact details at the top of this document.

If you would like to apply to have a memorial placed on the grave you will also need to purchase an exclusive right of burial grant. This will mean that the total fees from Bishopstoke Parish Council will be the total of the fee for the interment plus the fee for the exclusive right of burial grant.

There are no interment fees for the burial of a child up to 18 years of age.

It is possible to have a scattering of ashes around the perimeter of Bishopstoke Cemetery free of charge. The scattering of ashes can only take place in the areas which are not maintained as lawn, and cannot take place over the lawn areas or over any existing graves. This is the lowest cost option and it should be noted that this is not a legally registered burial, as the ashes are scattered on the surface of the ground rather than buried. The interment of ashes within a grave plot is a legally registered burial and will attract an interment fee. The option to scatter ashes around the perimeter of Bishopstoke Cemetery is available only by prior arrangement with Bishopstoke Parish Council - please contact the Assistant Clerk using the contact details at the top of this document. Please note that if you choose this option it is not possible to mark the position where the ashes have been scattered in any way.

If you are arranging a double interment of ashes, please note that there are two interment fees payable and each interment requires separate legal registration. This will also mean that two interment forms must be completed.

Fees for the Exclusive Right of Burial Grant

The purchase of an exclusive right of burial grant entitles the owner to determine who is buried in a particular grave, and to be able to erect a memorial. Please note that it is not possible to erect a memorial without ownership of the exclusive right of burial grant.

The fee for an exclusive right of burial grant will be doubled in all cases where the person being interred is from outside of the Parish and does not qualify under the exceptions listed at the bottom of the fees and charges list. If you are unsure whether a particular address is considered to be within the Parish of Bishopstoke please contact us using the contact details at the top of this document.

The fee for an exclusive right of burial for the burial of a child up to 18 years of age is paid for in most cases by the Children's Funeral Fund. This fee will be claimed by Bishopstoke Parish Council directly from the Children's Funeral Fund and will not have to be paid for and then claimed back by the parents of the child. In addition, Bishopstoke Parish Council will waive the fee for the exclusive right of burial in cases where the fee cannot be claimed back from the Children's Funeral Fund.

If you do not wish to erect a memorial it is not necessary to purchase the exclusive right of burial grant. However, this grant entitles the owner to determine who is buried into a particular grave and to have the automatic right to be buried into this grave themselves (provided there is available space). If the grant is not purchased the right to determine who is buried into a particular grave is held by Bishopstoke Parish Council. Under normal circumstances, if there is further grave space available in a grave where the burial grant remains unpurchased, Bishopstoke Parish Council would only agree to the burial of other relatives within the grave. However, it is possible that under extreme circumstances, for example circumstances that existed at the time of Spanish flu with large numbers of requested burials, that Bishopstoke Parish Council would be asked by the government to use all available grave space. The instruction to use all available grave space could include using available grave spaces where the exclusive right of burial grant remains unpurchased.

Fees for Memorial Applications

If you are unsure whether a particular address is considered to be within the Parish of Bishopstoke please contact us using the contact details at the top of this document.
